Join us on another rare-mileage steam train excursion behind the world's largest operating steam locomotive, Union Pacific's #3985, on Tuesday, June 6, 1995. This will be the last time this engine will be in this part of the country until 1999. The 197-mile one-way trip will run over Union Pacific's freight-only LittleRock, Arkansas to Monroe, Louisiana line (past home of Missouri Pacific's Louisiana Sunshine Special and Southerner passenger trains). The last time any scheduled passenger train ran on this line was in the late 1960s. The train will pass through wooded terrain from Little Rock to Pine Bluff, then pass through (but not stop in) downtown Pine Bluff on its way to Monroe.

The sharp-looking train we'll be riding will consist of Union Pacific's fleet of top-notch streamlined passenger cars plus several view-enhancing dome cars (dome seating will be reserved and extra-fare).

Boarding location and exact departure time will be sent to you with your tickets (please provide us with a stamped, legal-size envelope). Plan for an all-day event (counting return bus travel). Also, NO coolers or ice chests allowed on the train. Lunch provided with ticket. WELCOME ABOARD!

The Arkansas Railroad Club, Little Rock Chapter National Railway Historical Society, cannot assume responsibility for missed travel connections and ticket purchasers are to abide by all requirements and conditions of the Union Pacific Railroad and the Arkansas Railroad Club. We are not liable for any inconvenience caused by trip cancellations or delays or changes in equipment, including motive power, or changes in schedule or anything else beyond our control. REFUND POLICY: NO refunds made AFTER MAY 6, 1995 unless the trip is cancelled or unless we can re-sell your ticket(s).
